Why do we need a secondary typeface?

We need to have a secondary setup for typefaces when it comes to shared documents. When we share open documents (for example word files, power point, e-mail) the receiving computer will set their own typeface for text if they don't have Poppins installed. Therefore we want to make sure these documents look as close to our identity as possible. In these cases we suggest to set secondary type-faces that is included in the basic system font packages you have control over how your shared document will look like.

If a file is packaged as a pdf this won't be a issue. So if you don't want to use secondary type-faces make sure you're sharing a file that is ex-ported as a pdf for use your own computer to hold a presentation.

Our hierarchy is clear & simple to follow.

- Poppins Bold should always be used in capital letter lowercase.
- For headlines we always use Poppins and if we would want to lift out a sentence or make a splash of some sort that would also be texted in Poppins.
- All other texts would be written in Poppins Regular To highlight text we use medium & bold and it's also possible to use italic if needed.

That's how easy it could be.

A clear hierarchy with a few font weights. This is how we build recognition and a clear connection to our brand identity.

COLOR APPLICATIONS

Please use your best judgment when choosing colors while keeping in mind the importance of legibility.

In general, we recommend minimizing the use of blue-on-blue. Instead, we recommend using white on top of our brand colors in order to display text or iconography.

Proceed with caution! Only use these combinations sparingly.

Stop! Never use these color combinations.

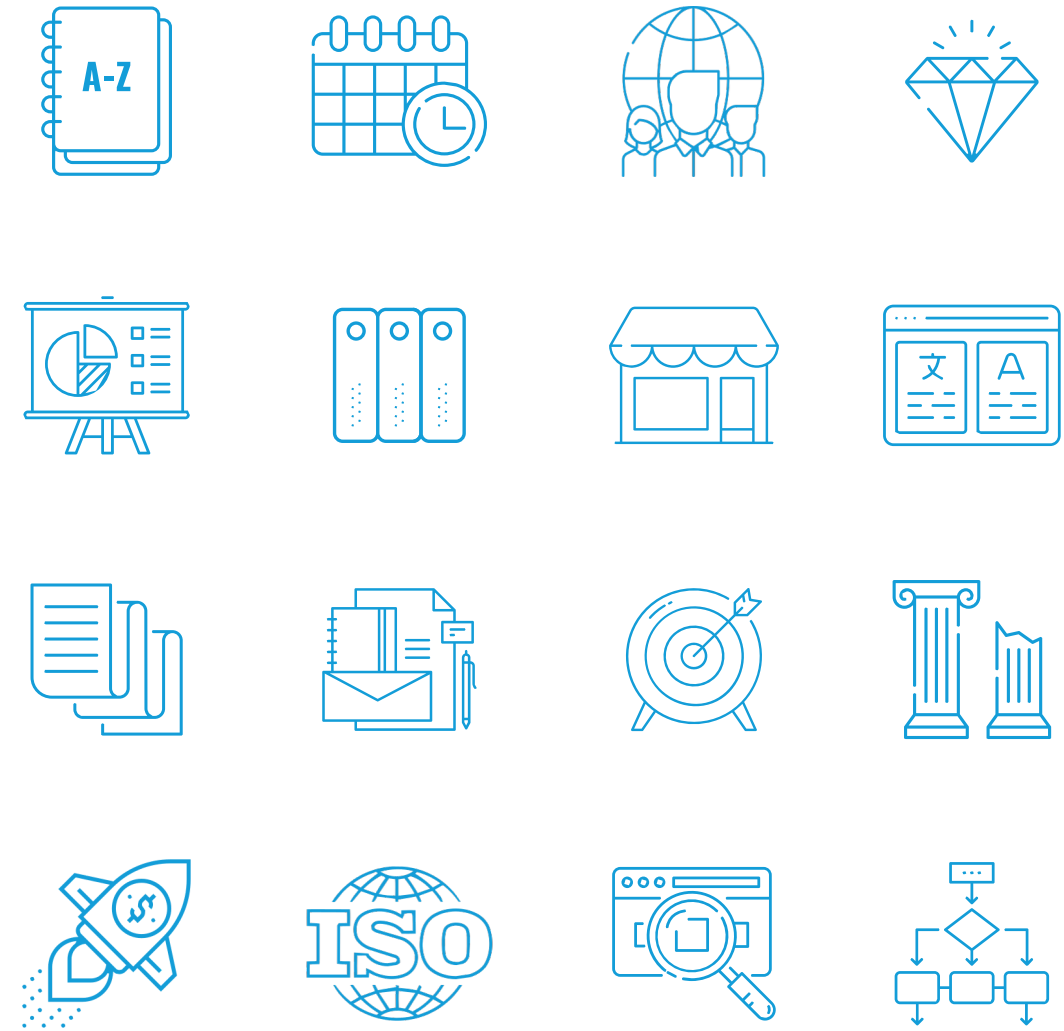

Good to go! We love how white looks on top of all our core colors.

THE MASTER BRAND ICONOGRAPHY

- Do not use any other variations or solid icon styles. If you cannot find what you're looking for in our approved icon bank, please reach out for assistance using the Basecamp request form.
- A rounded square is the preferred background shape.
- Minimum stroke weight of 1px.
- Only upscale proportionally. Holding down the "shift" button on most platforms will ensure proportional scaling.
- Download the approved icon bank on Basecamp. New icons are added often, so be sure to re-download the newest file regularly.

THE MASTER BRAND

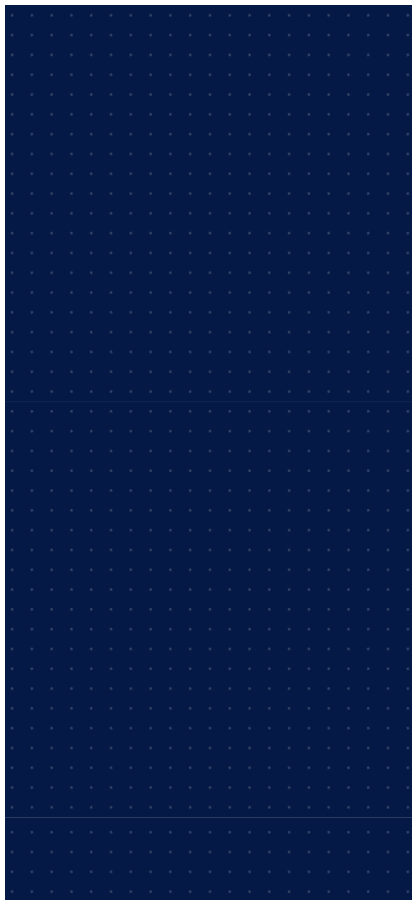

TEXTURES & PATTERNS

Pattern plays an important role in creating strong brand recognition, bringing depth to a brand identity and creating a memorable brand experience. At right are examples of approved textures and patterns. You may change the colors as long as they comply with brand guidelines.

Note: We are not restricted to these examples. Please reach out on the Basecamp request form for approval on additional textures and patterns.

COLOR PHOTOGRAPHY

Good imagery helps to reinforce TransPerfect's values and creativity. Photography needs to be professional in its approach and engaging in its content. This is essential for the TransPerfect brand, because it stirs emotions and has a distinct personality.

REQUIREMENTS

- Choose images with vibrant, eye-catching colors and details
- Use only high-resolution images Leverage imagery that demonstrates creativity, nature, or technology Include a diverse range of people
- Only put a single-color version of the logo on top of a photo, preferably white

BLACK & WHITE PHOTOGRAPHY

REQUIREMENTS

- Use grayscale images when the colors do not represent TransPerfect well
- Use a grayscale image with a color overlay if you'd like to add text on top of an image
- Choose sharp, high-contrast images Leverage minimalistic images or patterns that are modern and businesslike

THE MASTER BRAND

POWERPOINTS

TransPerfect PowerPoint presentations use a single, unified system that intentionally combines light and dark slide styles. Light and dark slides are not separate modes. They are designed to work together within one deck to support hierarchy, pacing, and emphasis.

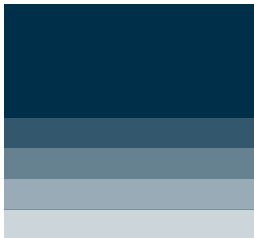

FONTS USED

PRIMARY COLOR PALETTE

How The System Works:

- Light slides are used for clarity, detail, and readability
- Dark slides are used for emphasis, transitions, and high-level messaging
- Both styles are part of one approved PowerPoint system and must follow the same layout, typography, and color rules

This is not a mix-and-match approach. It is a controlled system

Dark Slides

- Section dividers and chapter openers
- Vision, strategy, or future-state messaging
- High-level summaries or callouts
- Slides with minimal text and strong emphasis
- Dark slides are used to signal importance or transition, not to carry dense information.

Light Slides

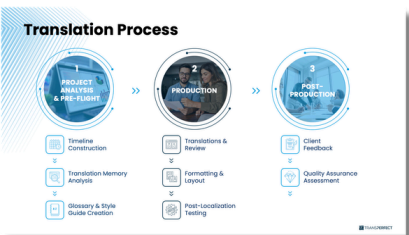

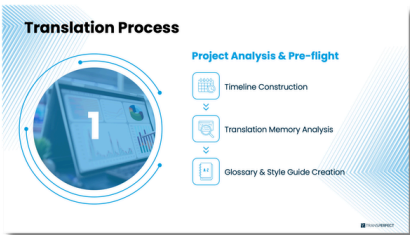

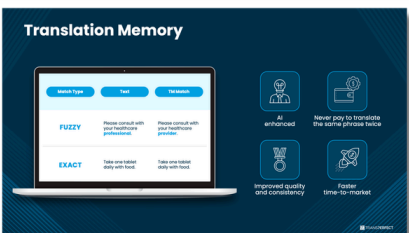

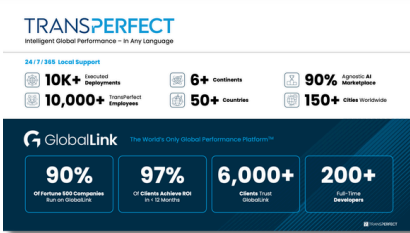

- Content-heavy slides
- Data, charts, and analytics
- Training, instructional, or informational content
- Any slide where readability is the priority
- Light slides should make up the majority of content slides in a deck.

System Balance Rules

- Light slides lead the narrative
- Dark slides create emphasis and pacing
- Dark slides should never dominate the deck
- Consecutive dark slides should be avoided unless part of a clear section break
- If dark slides feel frequent, they are being misused.

What is not allowed!

- Treating light and dark slides as separate modes
- Alternating light and dark slides without intent
- Mixing light and dark elements on the same slide
- Using dark slides for detailed or data-heavy content
- Recreating dark slides manually outside the template

Heineken® reaches sports fans in 31 markets and 18 languages with TransPerfect

4

The Challenge

As a premium alcohol brand that aligns itself with multiple high-profile sporting events, such as Formula One™ and the UEFA Champions League, Heineken® utilized its global partnership with TransPerfect to localize pre- and post-event video content very quickly. Heineken® required multiple versions of each asset to ensure all messaging was creatively adapted for audience, culture, and language.

The Solution

To ensure that all content, including match and race reminders and post-match/race content, was ready to go 30 minutes after each event concluded, TransPerfect pre-translated all potential outcomes for each event so that the correct message could be launched in each language across five social networks. Collaborating on the campaigns with four agencies, TransPerfect's team delivered accurately and on time so that Heineken's® local markets could publish the right asset at exactly the right moment according to the events' outcomes.

The Result

9,500 digital assets were created consistently and on time, outperforming all local benchmarks on CPM while reaching 277 million UCL fans and 168 million Formula One fans globally.

Finding a full-service language solutions partner who is able to collaborate not only with (Client) but also with multiple agency partners was incredibly important to us, and TransPerfect continues to deliver on all requirements.

Aēsop's Success Story in Rapid Product Knowledge Localization

5

THE CHALLENGE

- Aēsop was looking to enable global frontline staff with knowledge on more than 100 products in seven markets.
- Aēsop faced the task with only a two-member team and a demanding six-month deadline that needed to synchronize with their POS system rollout. The main challenge was that handling the whole in-house translation process would take three months just for file management. This would have been impossible to meet the deadline.

6

THE SOLUTION

- TransPerfect established an efficient one-click project management workflow for Aēsop, centralizing translation requests and simplifying project tracking, review, and delivery processes.
- TransPerfect managed the entire translation effort, reviewing and delivering 600 localized modules ready for LMS upload and including market feedback.

7

THE RESULTS

- Project management time was reduced from three months to 10 days.
- Aēsop achieved an impressive 33% reduction in engineering localization costs overall.
- The learning team gained back time to focus on higher-value tasks, which enabled them to create additional content.
- All modules were rolled out on time, within budget.

Only use approved icons in your presentations. All icons are scalable and editable. Use the "shape fill" tool to change the color of an icon to fit your presentation.

PRINTING:

Do not stretch or warp slides in order to fit them on US letter or A4 paper. Maintain the native aspect ratio and allow for white space above and below slides or have the printer trim paper to size.
